Iron in the Blood

MAKES THE WEAK STRONG

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an aliment, as easily digested and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the blood, and cures "athousand ills," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, searching out morbid seeretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarplaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhoea, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low state of the system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form, its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building up an Iron Constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures, to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hestate to give it a triat.

rom which mankind suffer over a large test of the plobe, is the consequence of a diseased action in the system, induced by the poisonous making of vegetable decay. This exhalation is evolved by the action of solar lieuton wet soil; and isses sink the watery vapor from it. While the sun is below the hor son this wapor lingers near the earth's surface, and the virus is taken with it through the lungs into the blood. There is acts as an irritaling poison on the internal viscera and exercising organs of the body. The liver becomes torpid and falls to secrete not only this virus, but also the bile from the blood. Both the virus and the bile secundates in the circulation, and produce violent constitute blood. Both the virus and the bile considered also. Finally, the instinct of our arganism, as if in an attempt to expel the toxicis infusion, execunitrates the whole blood of the body in the internal exerciories to force them to continue to out. The blood leaves the surface, and makes too the central organs with congestive violence. This is the CHILL. But in this effort it fails. Then he form a follows, in which the blood leaves the surface, as if as another effort to expel the irritating poison through that other great exerctory—the skin. It may also it fails, and the system abundons the attenual exhausted, and waits for the recovery of strength to repeat the hopeless effort another day. These are the fits or paroxysus of Favan and Acopy Such constitutional disorder will of course makes when the testical of its another can be a surface.

We have labored to find, and have found, antidote, which neutralizes this malarious poison in the blood, and stimulates the liver to expel it from the blood, and stimulates the liver to expel it from the blood. As it should, so it does care this affliction disorder with perfect certainty. And it does none or rather does what is of more service to those unbject to this infection. If taken in season it expelse it from the system as it is absorbed, and thus keep the service who use it free from its attacks; keeps the system in health although exposed to the dissease. Consequently it ant only cures, but protects have the great variety of affections which are induced by this malignant influence, such as Remitted Fever.
